

No other Autodesk learning provider provides all of these solutions.

Why CADLearning?

CADLearning has the most and best Autodesk learning content available. No other Autodesk Authorized Publisher or provider of Autodesk learning materials has more content created by leading subject-matter experts. We own 100% of our Autodesk learning content.

CADLearning is the only Autodesk learning provider to have dynamically created learning paths. Individual learning paths are created and adjusted automatically in CADLearning.

CADLearning is the only Autodesk learning provider to create its own dynamic assessment engine that is tied to content. All other learning providers use a third-party assessment tool. CADLearning created its own and integrated it with our content. By doing so, our customers are able to access our pre-hire, pre-classroom and post learning assessments, or create their own to meet their unique needs.

CADLearning is the only contextual, in-application Autodesk learning product. The CADLearning Plugin is the only in-application tool that provides contextual, in-the-moment, performance support for Autodesk applications.

CADLearning is the only Autodesk learning provider that separates its tools and content. CADLearning content can be purchased independently of our learning platform and integrated into your own learning or course management system.

CADLearning is the only Autodesk learning provider that can be used as:

- Technical support
- In-application performance support
- A-Z learning
- An assessment tool